🏡 Mission & Vision

Our Mission

> To disrupt the cleaning industry by blending tech-savvy convenience with a people-first approach — creating ridiculously easy, modern, and reliable home + vacation rental cleaning.

Our Vision

> To help as many clients as possible live more fulfilled lives by giving them back the thing that's most valuable — their time. Whether it's with family, friends, or just doing what they love, we make space for what matters most.

💛 Our Values

- Deliver on Promises - If you say you'll do something, do it. Whether it's following up with a client, showing up on time, or supporting your team — your word matters. We respect each other by keeping our commitments.
- We, Not Me - You're not just part of the brand — you are the brand. The more you pour into the community, the more everyone wins. Show up for your fellow franchisees, cleaners, clients, and team. We're building something together.
- Keep It Positive - Tough days happen — but your energy is contagious. Stay upbeat, even in the wild moments. Bring the fun, be yourself, and enjoy the ride. We've got the most badass team on the planet — act like it, and enjoy it.
- Kaizen / Constantly Improve - Small improvements lead to big results. Got a smart idea? See something that could be better? Speak up. We believe everything can be improved, and we want your brain in the game. Never settle.

We are:

- Bold and confident, but never arrogant

🎨 Color Palette

Our color palette balances trust with approachability—because cleaning doesn't have to be boring. Teal blue leads as our primary color, communicating reliability while staying fresh and friendly. Energetic yellow adds the perfect pop of optimism, while clean neutrals keep everything grounded. Together, they create a professional yet welcoming brand that says "we've got this" without being stuffy about it.

💬 Brand Voice

Our voice is 70% stand-up comedian, 20% trusted friend, and 10% professional—think of it as the cleaning company that doesn't take itself too seriously but absolutely takes your dirty house seriously. We use punchy, mobile-friendly sentences with self-aware humor and strategic hyperbole that acknowledges the obvious (nobody actually enjoys scrubbing grout).

Our tone includes mild professional snark, fourth-wall breaks, and direct audience callouts without relying on trendy slang that'll sound dated next year. We integrate cleaning keywords naturally, use parenthetical asides for personality, and structure content with quick-hit bullet points and clear section breaks. The goal is to make potential customers laugh while simultaneously realizing they need our services—because humor converts better than guilt trips, and everyone deserves a cleaning company that gets the joke.

Brand Overview	MaidThis represents a forward-thinking approach to the cleaning industry, combining technology, flexibility, and specialized services to meet the evolving demands of modern clients and entrepreneurs alike.	MaidThis isn't your grandmother's cleaning service (though she'd probably approve of our attention to detail). We're the cleaning company that actually gets how busy life is—and how much you'd rather spend your Saturday doing literally anything else than scrubbing toilets.

✅ Branding Do's & Don'ts

✅ Do:

- Use the official logos and colors
- Keep the tone fun, smart, and human
- Follow the photo guidelines for any visuals
- Make it ridiculously easy for clients to say yes

❌ Don't:

- Use off-brand colors or fonts
- Be generic or sound like any other cleaning company
- Clutter visuals with too much text or too many elements
- Go full corporate – we're not that brand
